STOLE TEN MILLIONS.

Fast Defalcations and Embezzlements in the Year 1895.

Cleveland Leader.

The aggregate stealings of men who violate public and private trusts, by defalcation and embezzlement, are probably much greater every year than those of the burglars and highwaymen put together.

The record of such stealings during 1895 as compiled by the insurance companies which guarantee employers against the dishonesty of their employees and the public against the dishonesty of officials, shows that the sum of $9,455,921 was obtained. The cases of embezzlement reported numbered 540. Of these fourteen stole more than $50,000, twenty more than $100,000, one more than $500,000, and one more than $1,000,000.

City and county officials stole $1,363,972, banks lost $3,066,070, agents embezzled $1,055,975, forgery obtained $541,500, building and loan associations $79,578, Postmasters stole $32,515, and the miscellaneous defalcations amounted to $2,175.

New York led with defalcations amounting to $2,388,816, while the stealings of that sort in Delaware were the smallest, amounting only to $1,100.

POPULISTIC MARRIAGE.

Adventures of a Kansas Belle in Wedgick's Green Fields.

Kansas City Journal.

Some very peculiar circumstances in connection with the life of Mary and Fred Harris as man and wife have developed since the beginning of divorce proceedings by Mrs. Harris four months ago.

In her petition Mrs. Harris accused her husband of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. She asks absolute divorce and alimony, claiming that her husband is the owner of some valuable real estate in this city. Harris filed a cross bill, in which he made charges against his wife similar to those which she made against him, and asked the court to grant him the decree. The court at the time of the filing of the suit by Mrs. Harris ordered him to pay her attorney's fees, and as he claimed he was short of ready money and that there was not much work for him to obtain as a plasterer, instructed him to provide for her at that home until the settlement of the suit. Since that time they have been living under the same roof.

Both parties have been married before, and thereby began a tale. Previous to her becoming acquainted with Harris, Mrs. Harris was the wife of a man named Schwabe. Her acquaintance with Harris soon ripened into love and he, becoming enamored of her and being well-to-do, made the proposition to her to pay the expenses of the suit if she would begin proceedings for divorce. She did so and obtained a divorce under the Kansas statute, which provides that a divorced person shall not marry until the expiration of six months. She and Harris paid no attention to this, however, and within two weeks after she was granted a divorce from Schwabe she and Harris were married in Kansas City. Mr. Harris married her in Kansas City. For some time life was pleasant enough for some time, and then trouble began which resulted in her suing for divorce from Harris. She had hardly begun these proceedings, however, when her attorneys learned that, owing to the fact that their marriage in Missouri occurred two weeks after she was granted her divorce, their union was illegal. Soon after this discovery was made she and Harris packed up their effects and were again married in this city, the six months having expired. They got along all right again for some time but for the past year, according to the petitions of both parties, their life has been about as happy as that of a cat and dog living in the same kennel. Harris and Schwabe are now on the most intimate terms and Schwabe, so it is understood, will be one of the most important witnesses in Harris's behalf.

Eyesight

Is of such great value that one ought to take more than ordinary precautions to guard against every possible trouble.

If you have even a remote suspicion that there is any trouble with your eyes it will be for your own best interests to have your vision tested and trouble, if any, removed.

Very simple troubles may develop serious results if not properly treated.

Ordinary failing eyesight receives our most careful attention, both as to glasses and frames.

It's just as important to have the right frame as the right glass, and from our large stock we can give you the correct thing in either Gold, Silver or Steel.

We make no charge for examinations, and if yours is a case requiring the services of an oculist we will frankly tell you so.

SINGING TO ROYALTY.

Miss Margaret Reid Kackley Meeting With Much Success in Europe.

The many friends in this city of Miss Margaret Reid Kackley will always learn with pleasure of the splendid success with which this gifted singer is meeting in her tour of Europe.

Wherever she has sung she has been congratulated on her superb voice, and royalty of Europe has shown her much attention.

She recently sang at a special performance in honor of the Prince and Princess of Wales, and after the performance she was sent for by the Prince and Princess and very highly complimented.

Mrs. Kackley has just finished a season at Cannes, and has been engaged for the next season of opera at Covent Garden, London, which begins in May.

Mrs. Kackley delighted a Mayville audience at the Washington Opera house several years ago, and still retains a warm place in the hearts of her hearers.

FRIDAY'S CASH SALE.
